Thurſday laſt Captain Smith arrived here in ſeven weeks from London; by whom we have Prints to the 7th of Auguſt, from which we have extracted the following.

In the Public Ledger of July 30 is inſerted a Letter to LORD DARTMOUTH, from which the following is extracted. vid pa, 366.

"YOU have raſhly been prevailed upon to undertake the ſuperintendence of American affairs, and that too at a time when thoſe affairs were hourly haſtening to a moſt unfortunate cataſtrophe; Lord Hillſborough foreſaw this, and prudently retired before the ſtorm gathered to an head. The cataſtical Baronet of Nettleham he too quitted the ſcene of action, content with having thrown the whole drama into confuſion: you, my Lord, are left diſconſolate in the critical emergency of diſtreſs: The period is now arrived, when you muſt incur the cenſure or applauſe of an enraged, inſulted, yet loyal people.

THE AMERICANS have been moſt ſcandalouſly traduced, and it is now apparent who have been their traducers; the letters of Meſſrs. Hutchinſon, Oliver, &c. prove beyond contradiction, that the deſtruction of the charter rights, and liberties of the Colonies hath been aimed at by the Miniſtry at home, as well as the friends of that Miniſtry abroad; the ſhameful ſcheme was conceived by our cabinet council, and it remained for ſuch agents as Hutchinſon, Oliver, Paxton, and others, to give it exiſtence. As the deſign was EXECRABLE, the means employed to execute it were INFAMOUS, were DISHONOURABLE, and ſuch as would cauſe a bluſh in the cheeks of an infidel ſavage to countenance. A Chief Juſtice of a province, degenerating into a COMMON INFORMER! argues a ſpecies of villainous treachery language cannot paint: A Chief Juſtice of a province baſely undermining that Conſtitution he was appointed to ſupport, uſing every art to enſlave thoſe people whoſe freedom he was SWORN to maintain! What my Lord is this, but to heap perjury upon treaſon, and for pure "villainy's" ſake to be villainous in the extreme! Yet men guilty of ſuch crimes have been not only countenanced, but careſſed, not merely employed, but highly honoured by your predeceſſors in office! Will you, Lord Dartmouth, a diſciple of juſtice, a profeſſor of the Chriſtian graces, will YOU conſent to the continuance of ſuch men in places of profit, of honour, and of truſt? Will you thus commence patron of inhumanity? Will you ſhew lenity to thoſe who, actuated by principles of barbarity, have cauſed the deſtruction of their fellow-ſubjects? I ſpeak boldly, but I ſpeak truths, in order that villains may feel daggers, and honeſt nature be ſhocked.

I affirm then that "all the troubles and military MURDERS in America, during thoſe troubles, happened in conſequence of the traiterous "MISREPRESENTATIONS of the King's Miniſters "in that country." Is more affirmed than the confidential correſpondence of Hutchinſon, Paxton, & Oliver proves? What can we think when the Chief Juſtice of a free province writes thus in a letter? "There muſt be an ABRIDGEMENT of "what are called Engliſh LIBERTIES." And who can doubt the intentions of the Britiſh court, when we ſee ſuch a man held in eſtimation by the King and Miniſtry?

Again, Charles Paxton ſays, "unleſs we have "immediately, two or three regiments, it is the "opinion of all the FRIENDS TO GOVERNMENT, "that Boſton will be in OPEN REBELLION." To this, amongſt other informations, America is indebted for the introduction of ſo many troops at Boſton, and the ſubſequent ſlaughter of the inhabitants by the military.

Theſe FACTS, my Lord, and ſome others, which will ſhortly be made public, account ſufficiently for thoſe differences which have ſo long unhappily ſubſiſted between Great Britain and her Colonies.

The nature of your office implies a POWER of healing theſe differences, of amicably adjuſting each ſubject of complaint; by your conduct we ſhall ſee whether you actually poſſeſs this power, for if ſpeedy juſtice is rendered the Colonies by the removal, and PUNISHMENT of thoſe heralds of ſedition, thoſe traitors to their truſt, Hutchinſon, Oliver, Paxton, and the reſt of the cabal; if this be done, we ſhall then know that you are in very deed American Miniſter; if it be not done, it will be manifeſt to the world, that you are the PUPPET OF THE DAY, incapable to move unleſs ſome ſecret hand ſhall touch the MASTER WIRE.

AN AMERICAN.

LONDON.

July 29. Thomas Pownall, Eſq; Member of Parliament for Tregony in Cornwall, it is ſaid will ſoon be created a Baronet of Great Britain, and re-appointed Governor of the Province of Maſſachuſetts-Bay, in New-England.

July 30. Yeſterday General Paoli was at Court, for the firſt time, ſince his arrival from a tour through various parts of England.

The Parliament, we are told, will not meet for the diſpatch of buſineſs, till the latter end of November, or the beginning of December. The reaſon of this is to avoid giving the people an opportunity of ſupplicating for the amendment of the golden act.

By letters from Boſton we learn, that the charge againſt Governor Hutchinſon and Mr. Oliver, of writing letters over here, tending to repreſent the people of that province in an injurious light, having been fully proved, the Aſſembly of that province have come to a reſolution of petitioning his Majeſty, to remove them for ever from that government.

After the King of Pruſſia had exhauſted every common ſpecies of exaction in Poland, his fertile genius produced a new and unheard of method of pillaging. He ordered every village and diſtrict ſubject to his power, to furniſh a number of young virgins, to be ſent as proper wives for his troops. By this means a great many innocent girls were torn from the arms of their deareſt relations, and forced to inter-marry with thoſe whom they never ſaw, and with whom they could not, for ſome time at leaſt, exchange language.

July 31. Yeſterday a Gentleman, ſaid to be an American Captain or Chief, dreſſed in the military habit of his country, was preſented to his Majeſty at St. James's, and moſt graciouſly received. He was accompanied to and from St. James's by his Excellency General Gage, commander in chief of his Majeſty's forces in America.

It is aſſerted as a fact at the weſt end of the town, that the Court of Spain is determined to break out with England, and that our Ambaſſador there has deſired to be recalled.

They write from Cadiz, that the Spaniards are extremely buſy in tranſporting ammunition, and all kinds of warlike ſtores to their ſettlements in America; fifteen hundred muſquets, with the like number of ſwords, and one thouſand quintals of powder, were lately ſent to Cathagena by the Caſtile ſhip of war; a number of piſtols are alſo expected at Cadiz, deſtined likewiſe for their American colonies.

Divers complaints are ſaid to have lately been received from North-America, relative to the impediment thrown in the way of their trade, by ſome commanders on that ſtation preſſing the men out of their coaſting and other veſſels; ſo that they have not hands ſufficient to navigate their ſhips.

Auguſt 6. If ever there was an Æra in the Britiſh annals when CORRUPTION reigned triumphant, it is in theſe Halcyon days, under the ſacred auſpices of a prodigy of piety. In Walpole's time, large ſums might be expended in bribing Parliaments, and ſecuring majorities, but ſuch manœuvres were played off rather more ſecretly than at preſent; the giver and acceptor of bribes felt perhaps ſome kind of compunction; nor were they altogether callous to ingenuous ſhame. Thanks to the happy perſecution of the times! we live in age when Miniſters diſtribute BRIBES, as Rakes bargain with Strumpets, in the broad glare of day! The conſcious bluſh of honor which tinged the cheeks of our anceſtors with virtue's rouge is now no more diſcernable amongſt us; with fronts of burniſhed ſteel our Senators meet but to vote away the properties of their conſtituents. All ſenſe of decency is laid aſide; the beauty of moral worth, the harmony reſulting from what Shaftesbury calls "inward proportion" and a "character," affect not the union of natures degenerate beyond the poſſibility of degeneracy to conceive, inſomuch, that a man, delineating the character of the preſent Parliament, muſt, if he did common juſtice to his ſubject, ſay, "that it was compoſed "of men loſt to all feelings for liberty and their "country; of weak heads, muliſh natures, and "callous hearts; men devoid of every ſenſation "but that ariſing from their itching palms, being "always ready to gripe what a venal Miniſter is "ready to beſtow, the ſpoils of national plunder."

There was a time, ſays a ſacrelous Correſpondent, when it might have been deemed a libel to call in queſtion the abilities of the King; but ſince the late Coin Act has paſſed, all ranks and degrees of men daily experience and complain of the lightneſs of his Majeſty's head.

The Coin Act, as if calculated to pleaſe the Republicans, hath afforded that body of men a pleaſure in idea, which they have long wiſhed for in real ſt, that of "demoliſhing the King's head."

A Correſpondent begs to add this as one inſtance of Engliſh inconſiſtency. "we are daily "praiſing monarchy; yet daily deſtroying our "Kings in effigy."

As we now eſtimate the value of our Sovereign's head by its weight, foreigners might be tempted to think, that we had a very heavy-headed King.

A Correſpondent deſires us to inſert as a caution to the wits, that "all puns upon his Majeſty's "head will be deemed capital."

It is evident, that all political regulations, as well in point of execution as deliberation, partake of their origin; conſequently contain a certain portion of alloy not to be ſeparated; and hence all that the Legiſlator or active Politician can do, is to embrace that ſyſtem, and purſue thoſe meaſures which appear freeſt from evil or error.

If this obſervation be applicable to our Conſtitution and the conduct of our internal Government, it is not leſs ſo in reſpect to the ſituation we now ſtand in, as a powerful and great commercial nation, with the ſeveral States on the Continent, or more properly ſpeaking, conſidered as a leading Member of the grand European Republic. The baſis which has for ſo many centuries ſupported this juſtly admired fabrick, has been ſhook to its loweſt foundations; the cement which held it together is daily mouldring away; its conſtituent parts are diſuniting and ready to ſeparate, and ſhould it be permitted entirely to fall, God knows in what manner they may be hereafter arranged, or what part Great Britain would be ſuffered to occupy in a new raiſed edifice.

The puſillanimity of our Miniſters in reſpect to foreign affairs, is, ſays a Correſpendent, ſhameful. They are afraid of a war, on account of its expected operation on our funds, and an increaſe of our national debt. They dread being forced into unpopular treaties with foreign powers; that is as much as to ſay, a man wants to bathe himſelf for ſome maligant diſorder, but he is afraid to be wet, or to catch a trifling cold, tho' perhaps his preſervation finally depends upon it. In fine, they carefully avoid Scylla, but are at the ſame time in imminent danger of falling upon Charybdis.

What makes the ſpirit which at preſent governs the Cabinet appear the more alarming, is the idea ſuggeſted to all degrees of people by the heavy debt contracted during the late war, the conſequent burdens it has laid upon them, and the inveterate diſlike they have conceived againſt thoſe whom they are pleaſed to ſtile their hereditary enemies; by which means the fears of our Miniſters, and the vulgar prejudices of the bulk of the nation, originating from very different motives, but uniting in a certain point, the honour of this country is diſgraced, and its future ſecurity rendered precarious, if not dangerous.

Aug. 7. Some letters by the laſt poſt from Holland adviſe, that a fleet was fitting out at Breſt with ſecreſy and expedition, the object of which was not publickly known.
